From the Editor

Mea Culpa

When our August issue of The Angora News was published I erroneously left out this lovely report from the New York State Angora Club. It was submitted on time, and the omission was due to no fault of theirs.

I offer my most sincere apologies, and strive to do better going forward.

Specialty club reports are so important, they help us form connections over the miles. Seeing the fun other groups are having, and putting faces to names in the photos shared helps us recognize other NARBC folks when we attend those big shows!

I hope this doesn't discourage any of our clubs when it comes to reporting. Having your voice heard is so important, and the heartbeat of The Angora News. I want you all to be heard and know you all are equally as important.

I always strive to do better in life, including our newsletter.

Again, I deeply apologize for the omission.
